Bloomfield Record.

HOW SHE WON HIM.

"Minnie! Minnie! is my chocolate nearly ready?

"In one minute, grandmamma."

It was scrupulously neat and dainty in all its appointments, the little parlor where Mrs. Breighton sat, although the carpet was a tissue of darns, the furniture faded, and the hearth-rug skillfully eked out by a piece of quite another fabric inserted in the spot most worn. A few flowers, in a slender-throated vase, stood on the antique, claw-legged table, the fender-irons glittered like gold, and the thin muslin curtains, artistically mended here and there, were white as snow; and Mrs. Breighton herself looked like Cinderella's god-mother, in her dress of ancient brocade, best yellow thread-lace, and the rings glittering on her small, shriveled hands.

Eighty years old, and a lady to the last! That was something to be proud of. What though paralysis had robbed her of all use of those dainty-slippered feet—what though the grand house she had entered as a bride was now narrowed down to this one room in a second rate building, where two other families also set up their household altars—she was a lady still, and she could boast that she never had degraded herself to commonplace toil.

"Our means are limited," said old Mrs. Breighton, with the lofty air of a duchess; "but the pension of my son, the colonel—who, as you probably may remember, was killed on the Florida frontier—is sufficient to maintain myself and my two granddaughters—and we are ladies."

Minnie Breighton presently came in with her little chocolatiere on a napkin-covered trap, and two slices of toast, exquisitely browned and cut as thin as a wafer.

"I hope you haven't been kept waiting, grandmamma?"

"My dear,"—she said, with an air of mild resignation—"I am accustomed to wait."

"Oh, I am so sorry! But our fire is out, and I had to run and borrow the use of Mrs. Tucker's stove to boil the chocolate, and—"

Mrs. Breighton contracted her silvery brows.

"The Breightons are not a borrowing race.

"Shall I get you an egg, grandmamma?"

"Not if the fire is out my dear."

And grandmamma Breighton went on with her breakfast, wearing an injured air, while Minnie went back to the other room, where sat her twin sister, cogitating.

Anna Breighton was as pretty as Minnie, but in quite a different style. She was dark, with melting, almond-shaped eyes, an olive skin, and lips like a pomegranate flower, so perfectly shaped, so richly red; while Minnie was tall and slender, and fair as a daisy.

Anna laid down a slip of greasy paper as Minnie entered.

"It's the grocer's bill again, sister. What shall we do?"

Minnie sank into a chair.

"And the gas yesterday, and the landlord not paid, and the purse as empty as—Mother Hubbard's cupboard. What shall we do?"

"That's the question," said Minnie, reflectively arching her jetty brows. "If we can only keep it from grandmamma!"

"We must," retorted Minnie, with a decisive nod. "It would kill her. If we were men now, Nanny, we could go out and get a job of wood-sawing, or house-painting, or—"

"And why can't we now?"

"Why? Because Pat O'Neil has got all Mrs. Barker's wood to saw, and because we can't climb ladders, with paint-pots over our shoulders."

"But we can do something else, I suppose. Listen, Minnie—money we must have!"

"If we go out into the highways and ask it at the point of the bayonet!" interjected Minnie, gravely.

"There's no poverty like genteel poverty," her sister sighed. "But you haven't heard my plan. Mrs. Barker, the laundress in our top story, is sick."

"What then? We have neither wine nor jelly, nor yet crisp bank-notes to bestow upon her."

"And she can't keep up to her engagements. There are two swiss muslin ball dresses, fluted and puffed beautifully, lying in her basket, waiting to be done up, at this present moment. Five dollars apiece she has for them."

"Well?"

"I shall do them up."

"Nanny! You?"

"Well, why not? Think what a golden stream of pactolus ten dollars would be in our empty coffers! Ask yourself how on earth you or I could earn ten dollars any other way. And after all, a swiss muslin dress is a pretty poetical sort of a fabric to wash and iron; and into the bargain, poor Mrs. Barker keeps her customers."

"Oh, Nannie! have you come to that?"

"Now you look and talk exactly like dear old grandmamma! Don't be a goose, Minnie! Just you invent some story about my being promenading in the park, or taking lessons in wax-flower making, to delude her credulous soul, while I go up stairs and coin money."

"But I may help you?"

"By-and-by, perhaps, if my wrists gets tired. Not now; some one must stay with grandmamma."

* * * * *

"It is very strange," said Miss Georgiette Appleton, "That my dresses haven't come home! Positively, I shall have nothing to wear to-night!"

She was lounging before the sea-coal fire, in a blue silk negligee, trimmed with swansdown, and a little French tangle of blue ribbons and lace pinned among her yellow tresses, with a pearl-headed javelin, while a novel lay in her lap.

"What an awful fate!" observed her brother carelessly. "Where's the amethyst silk?"

"Oh, I wore that to their last reception!"

"And the pink crape?"

"I look like an owl in pink. I was a goose ever to buy that silk."

"The Nile green silk with the white flounces?"

"Sarah Howard has one, just a shade lighter, and she'll be sure to wear it; and I believe the spiteful thing got it on purpose to kill mine. No I must have the swiss muslin, with knots of blue corn-flowers, and a Roman sash figured with gold And you'll go around to the laundress, and harry her up a little, won't you George?—that's a duck of a brother!—and you know perfectly well you've been yawning your jaws off the last three-quarters of an hour."

"Where is it?"

"Only in Mendenhall—just a pleasant walk. And do give Mrs. Barker a scolding, and ask her if she don't know better than to keep her customers waiting—although, of course, I know you'll do nothing of the sort. Men have no moral courage. There's the address on a card. It'll be such a relief to my mind!"

Major George Appleton was an army officer, home on a furlough, and rather at a loss to know what to do with so much extra time. Rich, which was another source of perplexity—handsome, which wasn't so puzzling.

And so he sauntered along, his hands in his pockets and a cigar balanced between his lips, unconsciously advancing to meet his fate!

Rap! rap! rap! The Major played a tattoo with his knuckles on the door.

"Dear, what a noise!" said a voice inside. "Come in!"

The Major walked in, to confront, not a wrinkled old hag of a washerwoman, in a halo of soap and steam, but a beautiful young lady, dark and brilliant as an Arabian dream, with jetty curls pinned back in a silken cascade at the back of her head, and a pair of fluting scissors in her hand.

Major Appleton started back, all his wits momentarily deserting him. It is a curious fact that the more embarrassed one party in a tete a-tete becomes, the greater is the composure of the other. Anna Breighton should have colored and stuttered, at being caught thus, but she didn't.

"What's your business, sir?" she asked, with the greatest calmness.

"It's—it's about by sister's gown—Miss Appleton's you know!"

"Ah!" said Anna. "I hope to have it ready very soon. If you'll wait ten minutes you may carry it home."

And she took a second pair of fluting scissors from the stove, testing its heat by holding it dangerously near her velvet cheek.

Major Appleton, not being posted in etiquette and general decorum, saw no harm in carrying home a basket of newly-laundried clothes. So he sat down and waited, while honest Mrs. Barker stared from the other room, where she lay upon her bed—a captive to rheumatic pains.

"She's in a hurry, you know," said the major, twirling his thumbs, and thinking how very pretty the girl was.

"So am I," said Anna, making the fluting scissors glide in and out in a most marvelous manner among the clouds of sunny muslin.

"She wants to wear it," added the major.

"But I say—you know—you're not a regular washerwoman?"

Anna slightly straightened herself up.

"My father was a colonel in the Regular Army. My grandfather was Hyde Breighton, of Breighton Manor, on the Hudson But we are reduced now, and we need money; and I am not ashamed to work."

"By Jove you're a trump!" said Major Appleton, starting up.

"Much obliged to you," retorted Anna with sparkling eyes. "Would you mind holding the end of that sash for me—just a second while I finish this loop?"

And when Minnie came up to see how her sister was getting on she found her aided and abetted by the major of cavalry, who was halting the alternate pairs of fluting scissors after a most scientific fashion.

"Dear me," said Miss Appleton, when at last her brother made his appearance, "how long you have been!"

"Yes," said the major, rubbing his hands with an appearance of great satisfaction "it took us quite a while to finish those last thirteen flounces."

"Us! You don't mean to say that you helped the washerwoman?"

"Yes, I did," said the major; "and the frocks are down stairs, and I am going up for a game of billiards." And as he went, he murmured to himself. "I thought all girls were alike, but I believe I've discovered one independent—one at last.

* * * * * *

"Grandmamma, I'm going to be married."

"You, Nanny? Why you are but a child?"

"Anna Breighton was kneeling beside her grandmother's chair, and the fairy godmother was stroking her curls with one tremulous white hand, where the antique jewels shone like drops of blood and scintillating sparkles of green fire.

"I'm eighteen, grandmamma."

"So you are! How the time flies! Eighteen years old! But who's the happy man? We see no society worthy of ourselves, Nanny, and—"

"I'm sure you will like him, grandmamma. He is coming to pay his respect to you to-night. His name is Major George Appleton. He is in the—the Cavalry, and he owns a house on Madison Avenue, and—and he loves me grandmamma!"

Nanny held her black tressed head on the old lady's shoulder as she spoke the last words.

"All natural enough, my dear; but do you love him?"

"Yes, grandmamma."

"And where did you meet him? When were you introduced?"

"I wasn't introduced at all," returned Nanny, with mischievous elves of flame coming and going in her eyes. "I was fluting muslin up in Mrs. Barker's room, when he came in on an errand; and—Oh, grandmamma, you have always thought, it so dreadful to work! But if I hadn't been working, I never should have met him. And I love him so much grandmamma!"

"Well, well," said the old lady, rather reluctantly, "things seem to be altered from what they were when I was a girl."

"But you shall live with us always, granny my dear, and Minnie, too, and we shall all be so happy!"

And Anna Breighton's tears were tears of perfect joy.

State of New Jersey.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
TRENTON, N. J., July 22d, 1874.

To the Hon. Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State:

SIR:—You are hereby directed to cause to be published in all of the newspapers of this State authorized to publish the laws of the last session of the Legislature, by one insertion each week for the term of three months, in each of said newspapers, the proposed Amendments to the Constitution of New Jersey, passed by the last Legislature and filed in your office by the Secretary of the Senate.

Yours, &c.,
JOEL PARKER, Governor.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State of New Jersey.

ARTICLE I.

RIGHTS ANE PRIVILEGES.

Insert as paragraph 19, a new paragraph as follows:

"19. No county, city, borough, town, township or village shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan its credit, to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, or become security for, or be directly or indirectly the owner of, any stock or bonds of any association or corporation."

Insert as papagraph 20, a new paragraph, as follows:

"20. No donation of land or appropriation of money shall be made by the state or any municipal corporation to or for the use of any society, association or corporation whatever."

Change the number of present paragraph 19 to number 21.

ARTICLE II.

RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE.

Section I.

Strike out the word "white" between the word "every" and the word "male" in the first line.

Add to the paragraph the following:

"And provided further, that in time of war no elector in the actual military service of the state, or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from such election district: and the Legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which, and the time and place at which, such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election districts in which they respectively reside."

Section II.

Strike out all of the second section after the word "bribery."

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE.

Section I.

Paragraph 3—Strike out the words "second Tuesday of October," and insert in lieu thereof the words "first Tuesday after the first Monday in November."

Section IV.

Paragraph 7—Strike out the following words:

"A compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the state; which compensation shall not exceed the sum of three dollars per day for the period of forty days from the commencement of the session, and shall not exceed the sum of one dollar and fifty cents per day for the remainder of the session. They shall also receive the sum of one dollar for every ten miles they shall travel in going to and returning from their place of meeting on the most usual route," —and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Annually the sum of five hundred dollars during the time for which they shall have been elected, and while they shall hold their office, and no other allowance or emolument, directly or indirectly, for any purpose whatever."

Also strike out the words "per diem."

Section VII.

Paragraph 4—Add to the paragraph the following:

"No law shall be revived or amended by reference to its title only, but the act revived, or the section or sections amended, shall be inserted at length. No general law shall embrace any provision of a private, special or local character. No act shall be passed which shall provide that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be made or deemed a part of the act, or which shall enact that any existing law, or any part thereof, shall be applicable, except by inserting it in such act."

Paragraph 6—Insert the word "free" between the word "public" and the word "schools," and add to the paragraph the following:

"The Legislature shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of free public schools for the instruction of all the children in this state between the ages of five and eighteen years."

Strike out Paragraph 8, as follows:

"8. The assent of three-fifths of the members elected to each house shall be requisite to the passage of every law for granting, continuing, altering, amending or renewing charters for banks or money corporations; and all such charters shall be limited to a term not exceeding twenty years."

Change the present number of paragraph 9 to 8.

Insert as paragraph 9, a new paragraph, as follows:

"9. No private, special, or local bill shall be passed, unless public notice of the intention to apply therefor, and of the general object thereof, shall have been previously given. The legislature, at the next session after the adoption thereof, and from time to time there after, shall prescribe the time and mode of giving such notice; the evidence thereof, and how such evidence shall be preserved."

Insert as paragraph 11, a new paragraph, as follows:

"11. The legislature shall not pass private, local or special laws in any of the following enumerated cases, that is to say:

"Laying out, opening, altering and working roads or highways.

"Vacating any road, town plot, street alley or public grounds.

"Regulating the internal affairs of towns and counties; appointing local offices or commissions to regulate municipal affairs.

"Selecting, drawing, summoning or empaneling grand or petit jurors.

"Creating, increasing or decreasing the percentage or allowance of public officers during the term for which said officers were elected or appointed.

"Changing the law of descent.

"Granting to any corporation, association or individual any exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever.

"Granting to any corporation, association or individual the right to lay down railroad tracks.

"Providing for changes of venue in civil or criminal cases.

"Providing for the management and support of free public schools.

"The legislature shall pass general laws providing for the cases enumerated in this paragraph, and for all other cases which, in its judgment, may be provided for by general laws. The legislature shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers, but they shall pass general laws under which corporations may be organized and corporate powers of every nature obtained, subject, nevertheless, to repeal or alteration, at the will of the legislature."

Insert as paragraph 12, a new paragraph, as follows:

"12. Property shall be assessed for taxes under general laws, and by uniform rules, according to its true value."

Section VIII.

Insert as paragraph 2, a new paragraph, as follows:

"2. Every officer of the legislature shall, before he enters upon his duties, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: 'I do solemnly promise and swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully, impartially and justly perform all the duties of the office of ——, to the best of my ability and understanding; that I will carefully preserve all records, papers, writings or property entrusted to me for safe keeping by virtue of my office, and make such disposition of the same as may be required by law."

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE.

Paragraph 6.—After the word "legislature," where it occurs first in said paragraph, insert the words "or the senate alone."

Paragraph 7.—Add to the paragraph the following:

"If any bill presented to the governor contain several items of appropriations of money, he may object to one or more such items while approving of the other portions of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the legislature oe in session he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If, on reconsideration, one or more of such items be approved by a majority of the members elected to each house, the same shall be a part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. All the provisions of this section in relation to bills not approved by the governor shall apply to cases in which he shall withhold his approval from any item or items contained in a bill appropriating money."

Paragraph 8.—Add to the paragraph the following:

"Nor shall he be elected by the legislature to any office under the government of this state or of the United States, during the term for which he shall have been elected governor."

ARTICLE VII.

APPOINTING POWER AND TENURE OF OFFICE.

Section I.

MILITIA OFFICERS.

Paragraph 5.—After the words "major generals," insert the words "the adjutant general and quartermaster general."

Paragraph 9.—Strike out the words "the adjutant general, quartermaster general and."

Also strike out the word "other."

Section II.

CIVIL OFFICERS.

Paragraph 1.—Strike out the word "and" (where it occurs first) in the paragraph, and insert after the word "appeals" the following words: "and the judges of the inferior court of common pleas."

Change the number of present paragraph 3 to number 2, and strike therefrom the following words: "and the keeper and inspector of the state prison;" and insert in lieu thereof the words "and comptroller."

Also, strike out the words "one year" in the second clause of paragraph 2 of section 2, and insert in lieu thereof the words "three years."

Change the number of present paragraph 4 to number 3, and strike out the word "and" where it occurs between the word "chancery" and the word "secretary."

Also, insert after the word "state" the words: "and the keeper of the state prison."

Change the number of present paragraph 5 to number 4.

Change the present number of present paragraph 6 to number 5.

Change the number of present paragraph 7 to number 6, and strike therefrom the words "annually," "annual," and "they may be re-elected until they shall serve three years, but no longer." Insert after the word "assembly" the following words: "and they shall hold their offices for three years;" and add to the paragraph the following words: "sheriffs shall annually renew their bonds."

Change the number of present paragraph 8 to number 7.

Change the number of present paragraph 9 to number 8.

Change the number of present paragraph 10 to number 9.

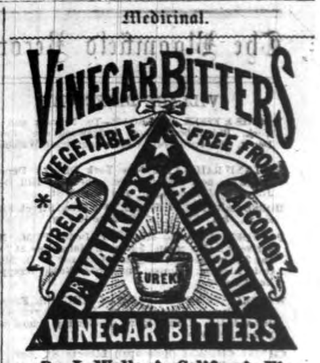
Medicinal.



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

IRA CAMPBELL, Collector.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between Harriet A. Groshong, complainant, and Philip Weaver and al., defendants.—Fi. fa., for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias, to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Court House, in Newark, on Friday, the ninth day of October, next, at two o'clock P. M., all that tract or parcel of land and premises, situated in the township of Bloomfield, Essex county, New Jersey.

Beginning at the southwest corner of Second and Cadmus streets; (1st) along the easterly side of Cadmus street twenty and a half degrees west one hundred feet to the corner of John Ackerman's land; (2d) along said Ackerman and Henry Hurd's land south sixty-nine degrees east two hundred and eighty-one feet and four inches to Railroad avenue; (3d) along said Railroad avenue north thirty-seven and one-half degrees east to Second street, the distance from the end of the second line measured at right angles with Second street is one hundred feet; (4th) along the southerly side of Second street north sixty-nine degrees west three hundred and thirty-one feet to the place of beginning, containing seventy-one hundredths of an acre, more or less.

JAMES PECKWELL,
Sheriff.

Newark, N. J., August 7th, 1874.
